Select two persons from your group and simulate the conversation between the programme tutor, the participant and the internship tutor. The final outcome of your presentation can be whichever you want.

- One girl arrived in France for a 14 weeks mobility programme
- Her professional sector was Agricultural Production – Animal care
- She was placed in a farm where she was also accommodated, living with her tutor and the tutor's daughter
- The family welcomed her in their house. When they travel to other cities they asked if the participant would like to go with them too. They also welcomed some of her relatives in their house and even went to pick them up at the airport
- The placement was going well for the participant, she was enjoying the tasks, although she was a bit shy and the level of French was not very good, creating obstacles in her integration
- One day the tutor was cleaning the house and entered her room to open the window
- The participant noticed someone entered her room and didn't feel comfortable with that
- She decided to ask the keys room from the tutor
- After that the tutor felt she didn't trusted them and was very upset with her attitude
- For that, the tutor decided to cancel her internship and asked her to leave the accommodation
- Although there was a mediation, the participant had to change accommodation and internship

How would you handle it?

The same situation can be handled differently depending on who is involved. Please read the scenario proposed and discuss it within your group, taking into consideration the following:
- What went wrong?
- What would you do differently?
- Have you ever faced a similar situation?
- What would you make to ensure a different ending?
- What personal characteristics do you encounter in each of the persons involved that might influence the outcome of the situation?
- What do you think is the role that both tutors (programme and internship) should have?
- What about the sending institution? What is the role of the programme coordinator?
